

Here is a short overview of some of my dogs of my career as handler.

They are all dogs that I trained with the listed trial-titles itself and/or have performed on trials. The sub-pages are dedicated to the dogs, with which I could participate on national championships.

I also spent many years in addition to various volunteer activities, clubs and associations. I also held the post of a training instructor and protection helper.

Condor vom Detzkamp (Boxer) VB, FH

Thus this dog itself was not so good in defence work, I did the, for that time (1980) exotic VB examination (Verkehrssichere Begleithund Prüfung), and later (1982) the FH examination.

Narro von der Michaelswiese (GSD) SchH 1 – 3

This dog I started to train for someone. In 1983 the dog was two years old, partly very stubborn and let themselves also badly be motivated. Training by using some toys, reward by food or excessive praising was not at all announced at that time as well as. Even if already admits these things in the dog sport were known, their using in training were suppressed with the words: "That is nothing, because you may not do that in the examination also."

Thus this dog learned his exercises by constant repetition and experienced peace, if it implemented it correctly and to my satisfaction. Promptly I missed the first SchH 1-Prfg in the obedience. Unsatisfactory apport was the reason.

With this dog I learned the first regularity: Consequence, in two different regard: First of all I insisted on the apport, by affecting the dog psychologically, and secondly I praised him extensively and confirmed him with a toy, if he made the apport at all.

But this was against the advices of the old training instructor. But it works, thus I could successfully do the SchH 1, 2 and 3 within a year.

Ricky vom Osteranger (GSD) SchH 3, IPO 3

Asti vom Yachthafen (GSD) SchH 3

She was the female dog of my ex-wife. When they missed the SchH 3, I've been training with the dog in 1987 for a few months. Then we made 2 times the examination with 284 pts.

Endie von der Schafbachmühle (GSD) SchH 3

A breeder friend had bought the dog, he couldn't perform because of lack of time. She had taken six months ago the SchH 2. In 1991 I trained 8 times with her and then put the SchH 3 (with 97 P. C) on her.

Tasco (reg. GSD) SchH 1

At the age of 12 months we do the BH examination, and a half year later the SchH 1. But his character and drive does not reach my expectation, so he left to a young handler.

Gracy von Posejdon (GSD) SchH 1 – 3, IPO 3, FH

She was a daughter of Endie and was an extremely well assessed dog in all departments, had an enormous play drive, paired with the pertinent courage. Today you are missing at a lot of dogs her "joy to work". With her I did the examinations FH 1, SchH 3 and IPO 3 (with in each case 290 pts.) from 1993 until 1996. However I worked to hard and strong with her, so that I blocked her (and me) the way to higher competitions.

Therefore I looked at that time for a second dog. And so I trained in 1995 a male GSD to SchH 1. But a still so intensive search for a male GSD, which corresponded to my requirements regarding impulse, nature and hardness, remained unsuccessful. Either they all were too softly, driveless or however for me priceless.

Clip vom Roten Falken (Mal) SchH 3, IPO 3, FH 2

Slobo (X-Mal-Groendael) IPO 1

Between Clip and T-Rex I had to do a small break for 3 years, because of a professional further training at a university. I trained other young dogs and this nearly 7 years old X-Malinois-Groendael female to IPO 1. Here before all kinds of dog handlers tried without success ("This dog will never pass an examination.") I had done it with her in 2000 with (97 – 84 – 87).

Daneskjold T-Rex (Mal) VPG1 - 3, IPO 3, FH 2

Emil vom Hatzbachtal (Giant Schnauzer) BH

When the training with T-Rex was stable, I trained in 2004 a Giant Schnauzer from a club member and compete with him BH examination.

Basko vom Fachenfelde (Dob) VPG 3

In addition I have had built up and promoted countless dogs in A, B and C, so that they could successfully participate on federal and world championships. Very sad that 9 out of 10 handlers always forget this when the success is possible. Many of them wouldn't appear without this help in any result lists, but are still convinced that they have done everything themselves. This one needs only to take a look, what they have reached since this "cooperation" or a successor dog and led to championships. 😊
